

'Bras on Dudes' set to support 2011 American
Cancer Society Coeur d'Alene Relay For Life

Kootenai County Fire & Rescue firefighters and other local males will be showing their more feminine side when they take part in the first ever "Bras on Dudes" fashion show and auction to benefit this summer's American Cancer Society Coeur d'Alene Relay For Life.

The fundraiser is set for Saturday, May 7, 7 p.m. at the Fedora Pub & Grille in Coeur d'Alene.

According to Ronnie Carder, committee member for the Coeur d'Alene Relay For Life, the men will model bras that have been decorated and donated from around the community. There will also be a silent and live auction during the event.

"Every dollar raised from the fundraiser will be donated to the Relay For Life and used to help the American Cancer Society fulfill its mission of eliminating cancer as a major health problem," says Carder.

To add to the festivities, live entertainment will be provided by Ron Greene and DJ Montoya.

Tickets for the evening are $25 per person or $40 per couple, which will entitle the patron to appetizers, one drink and a commemorative photo.

Carder is still accepting items for the live and silent auction, and decorated bras. Those interested can contact Carder for a bra entry form.

The evening is being sponsored by the Fedora Pub and Grille, Ruby Frog Entertainment, Food Services of America, Odom, Veers, Idaho Wine and Fedex Office.

The Coeur d'Alene Relay For Life is scheduled for June 10-11, at the Kootenai County Fairgrounds. More information about the Relay can be obtained by going to www.relayforlife.org/coeurdaleneid.

Tickets for the May 7 fundraiser are available by contacting the Fedora Pub & Grille, and INB Bank locations in Coeur d'Alene, Post Falls and Hayden. For more information about the "Bras on Dudes" fundraiser, contact Ronnie Carder at 704-5886 or online at ronniecarder1985@gmail.com.
