IT'S ALL INSIDE... THE JACC

POST FALLS, ID, September 10, 2015— Special engagement... 1 NIGHT ONLY!! Brad Richter and Viktor Uzur live in concert @ The JACC! Doors open at 6pm. Brad Richter may be on the most influential classical guitarist working today. His ability to defy the technical limits of his instrument has earned him comparisons to the like of Franz Liszt and Nicolo Paganini by luminaries of the American classical music scene. Mr. Richter is returning to the Inland Northwest for his annual Lead Guitar residency program with the Post Falls High School. His past residency program was a huge success and he has partnered with The JACC for several years to help area students excel in their studies. This year we have expanded the CGP (Classical Guitar Program) for many reasons. PFHS has an existing master guitar program with nearly 90 students, Matt Barkley although a highly qualified and experienced band instructor lacks the professional training, technique and curriculum to take the students to the level that Mr. Richter has over the years. It is the hopes that through this grant funded residency Mr. Richter and Mr.

Barkley can continue to benefit the students and ultimately the community. Mr. Richter will spend 2 days this fall (September 30 and Oct 1) with the students during school hours, then during the winter Skype sessions will take place with Mr. Richter from his Tucson home/office and then in the spring of 2016 Mr. Richter will return to assess and finish the residency which will be rounded out with a student concert accompanied by Mr. Richter here at The Jacklin Arts and Cultural Center. During Mr. Richter's fall visit, he has graciously offered to perform for us at The JACC. He will be accompanied by long-time musical partner Viktor Uzur, a virtuoso in his own right. Mr. Uzur received his Bachelor's and Master's in Cello Performance with soloist diploma from the Tchaikovsky Conservatory in Moscow during which time he worked with teachers such as A. Fedorchecko, D. Miller and N. Shakovskaya. He holds a doctoral degree from Michigan State University where he studies with Suren Bagratuni. This residency program is sponsored in part by The National Endowment on the Arts, Brad & Janice Baldwin Fund of INWCF and The Idaho Commission on the Arts.

“One of my strong points is getting an audience who may not be interested in classical guitar to enjoy a classical guitar concert” - Brad Richter
