

AMY EVANS ANNOUNCES CAMPAIGN FOR COEUR D'ALENE CITY COUNCIL

Amy Evans today announced her campaign for Coeur d'Alene City Council. She will be running for an open seat on the council. "Public service is important, and I am passionate about Coeur d'Alene and our city's future. My husband Doug and I are raising our two children to be contributing members of our community and we want Coeur d'Alene to provide opportunities for them and all of our city's kids by offering competitive jobs, education, and recreation." Evans said.

"I believe it is vitally important that Coeur d'Alene attract and foster businesses to strengthen our local economy. It's essential to advance our outstanding education system which is a driving force in attracting businesses and families to our city. Coeur d'Alene needs to continue to offer families a bright future and vibrant quality of life to raise their children. I am running to push for a better future for Coeur d'Alene."

"While serving on the City's Planning Commission I've had the opportunity to help shape Coeur d'Alene's future. I've worked to promote orderly growth, preserve the quality of Coeur d'Alene, protect the environment, and foster the safety of our residents. I believe that encouraging public participation is essential to the city's future."

"As the President of Coeur d'Alene Education Partnership I've provided opportunities for open and vigorous public dialogue over key decisions affecting public education and I've strived to ensure that the community is well informed about the issues, challenges, and choices that our education system faces."
