10 NCAA titles in 12 years.

When it comes to men’s basketball, college sports have never seen another team quite like the Memphis Tigers. The defending national champions are the only team in history to win back-to-back titles. Since 1999-2000, when the Tigers were coached by Tubby Smith, Tom Crean has led Memphis to 10 NCAA titles in 12 years. In fact, the Tigers have won at least a national championship in each of the last six seasons.

But not everyone is happy about the success of the Tigers. Some fans feel that the Tigers are dominating college basketball, and they are tired of hearing about Memphis' accomplishments. They argue that the Tigers are not as talented as some of the other teams in the country, and they think that the Tigers are not playing as hard as they should.

Despite the criticism, the Tigers continue to dominate the sport. They have won 10 NCAA titles in 12 years, which is an unprecedented feat. And they are doing it in a time when college basketball is more competitive than ever. The Tigers are证明 they can win at the highest level of competition, and they are proving that they are one of the best teams in the country.

The Tigers have a strong team this year, and they have a lot of experience. They have a lot of talent, and they have a lot of depth. They are a well-coached team, and they are a tough team to beat.

The Tigers are a team to watch this year, and they are a team to respect. They have a lot of history, and they have a lot of tradition. They are a team that has won at the highest level of competition, and they are a team that knows how to win.

Memphis ends Bradley’s run

The Tigers ended Bradley’s season in the second round, winning 73-71.

The Tigers had the last shot of the game, but they couldn’t make it. The Bruins took advantage of that, and they won the game. The Tigers had a chance to win, but they couldn’t make the shot.
