SECOND HALF OF WCC

Brigham Young 73, Gonzaga 70

Though they had the regular-season WCC crown in hand entering the game, the Bulldogs' bid for a perfect conference season - and a 22-game win streak - came to an end as Kyle Collinsworth and BYU upset the then-No. 3-ranked hosts.

Streaks busted

With the defeat to the Cougars in its regular-season finale, Gonzaga saw its 41-game home win streak - the longest in the nation at the time - come to an end, as well as a streak of 124 straight times holding the lead in a home game (dating to Feb. 12, 2007).

TRENDS

8-1

The Zags cruised through the first eight games of the second half of WCC play with only one win of fewer than 10 points (a 56-48 home win over pesky Pepperdine on Valentine's Day) before losing to BYU.

Memphis win

Mixed in with its slate of late-season WCC games GU, defeated the Tigers, a frequent nonconference foe, 82-64 at home on Jan. 31.
